About PMUSER

Proceedings of Manitoba's Undergraduate Science and Engineering Research (PMUSER) is an open-access refereed journal that is published annually and hosted by the University of Manitoba. The journal accepts research or review manuscripts written by undergraduate students from any science or engineering related faculty or manuscripts on any topic concerning or related to science or engineering. Upon submission, each manuscript undergoes a double blind peer-review process by two undergraduate/graduate students from a pool associated with the respective research area. Our mission is to provide opportunities for student communities to explore the frontiers of undergraduate research and add additional value and learning opportunities to students' degree programs through rigorous exploration, analysis, and presentation.

Aims & Scope

The focus of PMUSER is three fold: author, reviewer, editor. Through preparing and revising a manuscript, students are recognized for their research, have an opportunity for out-of-classroom learning, and further develop communication skills. Through learning the role of a peer-reviewer and reviewing manuscripts, students learn to critically evaluate the scientific literature and to critique ideas in the broader world. Through the editorial board, an interdisciplinary team arises to provide mentorship to undergraduate students and valuable leadership and teamwork skills. The three prongs of our focus unite in preparing students for careers in science or beyond, and the stepping stones to get there.
